Will be held at 6 A. M. on Monday, May 2, 1863, at the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court, in the City of Jacksonville, Florida, for the purpose of electing a Justice of the Peace for the County of Duval.

A School Wanted.

A gentleman, amply qualified, is desirous of procuring a school in some pleasant country neighborhood. If agreeable to parties, he would remain permanently. Enquire at "Republican" office.

The News is still of little interest, except the late Yankee raid into Mississippi, in which it is hoped they will yet be intercepted and cut off. The Yankees are said to be waiting in confident expectation that the South will soon be starved into submission. The prospect of innocent women and children starving to death, no doubt suits the bordering affections of the kind-hearted Yankees much better than meeting Southern soldiers and bayonets. But, thanks to a kind and beneficent Providence, from present appearances they are doomed to this expectation, as well as almost everything else, to bitter disappointment. They will probably come much nearer wearing the Southern army and people with anxiety and impatience by their tardy movements. We still look, however, every day, for important movements and intensely exciting news from Virginia and Tennessee. Prices generally have taken a downward tumble, within the last few days, supposed to be the effect of the recent heavy tax bill, and the very fine prospect of a wheat crop all over the country. Gold is declining and confidence in our currency rapidly reviving.

Just from the North—We have had the pleasure of conversing with a Confederate officer who left New York recently as Saturday last. He was not permitted to hold written or verbal communication with any one, but gathered from the tone of the press, and especially from hearing, that the conscription act would not be enforced, and if attempted will make bloody work. He heard an official in high position, remark that such an attempt would provoke a more desperate and bitter war at the North than now exists between the South and the North. The general tone of his remarks is encouraging. He brings with him numerous tokens of Northern sympathy for our cause, in the shape of purses, pen-knives, &c., which had been presented to him, and speaks of having received attention from many who wished the South success. At one town in Ohio, the landlord of the hotel at which he and his companions were stopping cancelled their bill; and at another place in Illinois, the landlord charged the usual sum of a quarter of a dollar, and set the best of quarters before them—the Yankee officers in charge of the prisoners being present. Frank Leslie's Illustrated News of the 11th, has a significant caricature representing Abe Lincoln as a toy soldier floating in a basin of water, attracted by a magnetized dagger, upon which is printed the word "GOLD". The lure is too strong to resist, and Abe rushes eagerly on towards its fatal point.

Advancement of the State of Washington, N. C.—The Washington Journal of Monday evening says:

"We have received positive information from the fellow back of Gen. Hill's troops from around Washington, and that the attack on that place has been abandoned at least for a time. Gen. Hill, we learn from passengers was in Goldsboro Saturday. We presume it was considered unnecessary to take Washington, unless Hill's Point, on the south side of the river, could have been first with long range guns, so as to prevent the enemy's gunboats from reaching the river above that point. There is no doubt in our mind that Gen. H. could easily have taken Washington and would have done so, had he deemed it advisable under the circumstances. Our correspondent says: The Yankee gunboats having longer range guns than ours they had shelled Hill's Point batteries, doing some damage, while our guns could not reach them. Our ordinance has all been secured in the evacuation or falling back of our troops from around Washington. The reported advance of 20,000 Yankees from Northern towns out to be erroneous. It is not our business to know where Gen. Hill's forces are at present.

The Yankee machine called the Devil, designed for the removal of trees, has been located at Charleston, and fallen into the hands of the Confederates. The devil has done a great deal of damage in three past, but as Beauregard has now succeeded in capturing him, we hope he will be kept within bounds in the future.

From Scrabble—From this point the reports which reach us are of an important character. These state that the battery of Capt. Sibley, connected with Gen. French's division, was surprised and captured on Sunday night at Keokuk's Farm, on the Nausumond river. It is stated that 10 of our men were captured and the same time—passengers by the train from Petersburg last night confirm this report. During the forenoon of Monday, heavy firing was heard in the direction of Suffolk, supposed to result from an engagement between the gunboats of the enemy and our artillery. Gen. Lee's fleet moved from his headquarters at an early hour on Monday morning.—Richmond Dispatch 23.

Latest News.

From the Se'ma Reporter.

ORANGE, April 27. Abolition cavalry estimated to be 1,500 strong were advancing on Port Charlotte yesterday. The advance guard were reported there last night. Our forces are concentrating to resist them. An engagement is certain to-day, unless the enemy retire.

JACKSON, April 27. Gen. Chalmers repulsed 6,000 Yankees—cavalry, artillery and infantry—at Coldwater. The enemy retreated in great haste and confusion, Chalmers pursuing them.—The enemy's losses were very heavy. Our men behaved well—many of them being for the first time under fire. The enemy's loss is unknown. Ours was one killed and six wounded.

Bureau has issued an order that all persons within the Federal lines benefiting the Confederates shall suffer death. Carrington, at Indianapolis, has issued the same order. The Chicago Times of the 16th says the entire monitor fleet has been sent to the Mississippi. It is reported at Havana that Wilkes had been arrested and paroled for firing into a Spanish steamer. Admiral Milne has also ordered the arrest of Wilkes for bringing the crew of the Vanderbilt engaged for the Peterhoff affair. Forty thousand Yankees are near Havana.

JACKSON, April 27. The enemy are believed to be advancing on Holly Springs from Corinth.

JACKSON, April 20. Chalmers is marching on Tallahassee with a force of artillery. He is on the north side of Cold Water.

CHATTANOOGA, April 20. Wheeler, with his command, scrambled the Cumberland river near Nashville, captured the wagon train, and killed and captured forty Yankees. All quiet along the lines to-day.

ORANGE, April 25. Our cavalry engaged the enemy yesterday at Birmingham. The fight lasted two hours and a half. The enemy were completely routed. Eighteen were killed and a large number wounded. Col. Hatch of the 21st Iowa cavalry, was seen to fall from his horse, which ran over our lines and was captured. Our loss was one killed and twenty wounded. The destruction of bridges prevented pursuit.

JACKSON, April 25. Gen. Sherman and C. L. Fortman have attacked and routed the Yankees at Okaloosa, killing fifteen and wounding a great many. Col. Hatch of an Iowa regiment, was killed. Our loss one killed and fifteen wounded.

JACKSON, April 25. The water at Fort Pemberton has fallen four feet and is still falling two inches daily. Communication with Lake has been re-established. The enemy advanced no nearer than Newton.

They are also near Koscisko. They burned Louisville, and hung Dr. Corlison. Gen. Adams telegraphed that at 8:50 P. M., he is waiting for the return of a party sent from Lake to open communication with Meridian.

JACKSON, April 25. To-day the enemy demanded the surrender of Enterprise. Gen. Loring refused, and they retreated. The enemy are reported to have been killed to fifteen hundred strong—cavalry. They retreated without a fight. About four hundred Federal cavalry left Starkville two days ago towards Baukston's Mills. They will take the road by Grenada or Pottsville. They burned on their retreat the Female Institute and other public buildings at Okaloosa.

Two trains were burned at Newton. The engines were slightly injured. CHATTANOOGA, April 25. Passengers by the train report that Gen. Dodge's Yankee force, estimated at from five to ten thousand, advanced ten miles east of Tusculum. Col. Roddy is fighting them, retreating towards reinforcements.

TALLAHASSEE, April 25. The enemy were falling back from Tusculum on the 25th. All quiet in front.

SAVANNAH, April 25. The ship Eagle, Capt. Brennon, laden with cotton and tobacco, outward bound, was beached and fired in Warsaw Sound, on Thursday night, to prevent her capture by the blockaders. Her crew are safe.

RICHMOND, April 25. In the Senate, to-day, the house bill was passed to admit free of duty all machinery used for carrying on any of the mechanical arts.

The bill to improve railroads was considered in secret session. The House concurred in the Senate resolution to adjourn, sine die, on the 1st day of May. Albert R. Lamar was elected Clerk.

CU-ITANOGA, April 25. The Cumberland river has fallen forty inches on Harpeth Shoals. The official report of the Yankees killed and wounded in the battle of Murfreesboro is 10,255.

TULSA, April 27. Wheeler's command has returned from McMinnville without loss. The enemy's pickets are near Tusculum. All quiet in front.

RICHMOND, April 27. Gold is heavy to-day, and has declined 50 to 75 cents.

Obituary.

DIED—On the 12th April last, at his residence near Oxford, after a long and painful illness, Deveraux Snow, in the 60th year of his age. His disease (dropsy of the chest), was attended by indescribable suffering, which, though protracted, was born throughout with remarkable fortitude.

In this dispensation, our community has lost one of its ardent and most valuable citizens. A little more than thirty years ago, he came to this country from Maine county, Tenn., and settled the farm on which he died. The land was then in the hands, and the land of industry had done little to reclaim those beautiful fields from the barren wilderness. This surrounded the land, he began the career of life. That career is run, that life is ended. His labors and rewards, his joys and sorrows, his successes and disappointments are finished.

Since Mr. Snow was for many years a prominent citizen of this community, and, besides, had an extensive acquaintance. It will not, we hope, be unprofitable in this humble tribute to his memory to mention some things worthy of commemoration. He was a noble example of stability, decision and integrity of character. Nobody has ever done much in this world without these essential qualities, and with them, few have failed to do something worthy of memory. They made him the man he was—true to his principles, devoted to the cause he espoused, and faithful to his friends. Temperate, industrious and economical in his habits, liberal in his views of education and public improvement; active, energetic, persevering, no wonder that he was a successful man. Successful, not merely in the accumulation of property, but in the rearing of a most respectable, intelligent and virtuous family; successful in achieving for himself an honorable distinction in those noble qualities which constitute the gold citizen, husband and father; successful in exerting a good influence among his fellow men by an example of piety, sobriety and uprightness. His house was the abode of hospitality and friendship, and it was here that his character was seen in its most lovely form. But he is gone, and his family mourns an irreparable loss. Though he died suddenly, it was not unexpected. For sometime before hand he was apprised of his approaching dissolution, and only a few hours before his departure spoke freely of the exercises of his mind on the subject of his preparation. His friends fondly hope that his hopes expressed on this occasion, were well founded, though they would by no means have any one follow his example in post, until the great duties of religion.

Twice, in less than one year, has death invaded this family circle. In September last, George P. Snow, (a son of D. Snow), was attacked with violent disease, while on his march to the theatre of war, and was in a few days brought home a corpse, to be interred in the family graveyard. Like his father, he was endowed with faculties which, exercised, would have made him a useful and successful man. Faithful and upright; industrious and persevering, he prospered in business, and enjoyed the confidence of his friends. May God sanctify these attributes, and aid port the widow and mother in her trials.

Deceased this life on the 12th, Feb. 1863, at the small-pox hospital, near Guinea Station Va., Sergeant Z. E. Baird, son of J. C. Baird, of Ladoga, Ala., in the 20th year of his age. He died of small-pox, after several days of suffering. He was a gallant and brave young man, having entered the service as a private in the first company that was raised in Calhoun county. When the State troops were turned over to the Confederate Government, he, in company with several others, returned home, but not to remain, for he soon entered the service in the gallant Fifth Ala. Batt. He was ever at his post during the battle of Murfreesboro. He shared in the victories which blessed our arms at Cedar Run, Second Manassas and Fredericksburg, and came out unhurt. When facing the enemy, he sustained himself with great gallantry, and as a reward for his gallant conduct in battle, he was promoted to sergeant's place in his company, a short time before his death. He was a young man of more than ordinary promise. The Confederate army lost in his death a faithful soldier. He bore his last sickness and met death with the fortitude of a patriot soldier. The writer of this imperfect sketch, once his companion in arms, in mourning his loss, offers his heartfelt sympathies to his father in the loss of his son.

DIED—At Vicksburg, Miss., on the 20th day of April of pneumonia, Mr. Tyro Harrison, musician, 31st Alabama, aged 28 years. Mr. Harrison has been long and favorably known by many of the citizens of Calhoun county as a man who possessed a warm heart. He leaves behind an aged mother; many relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Carolina Spartan please copy. Ruff McKinnon, Capt. Co. F, 31st Ala. Reg.

DIED—At the hospital of Greenville Butler county, Feb. 18th, 1863, Mr. R. H. Robinson, son of John and M. H. Robinson. He was born in Lincoln county, N. C., and came to Calhoun county, Ala., in the year 1858, where he lived until March 1862, at which time he entered the service of his country. He was a member of Co. A, 2nd Ala. Cavalry. He was a good soldier, and well beloved by his officers and fellow soldiers. He has left a wife and four small children to mourn his loss. He was a good Christian, and died at peace with God and all men; may our loss be his eternal gain. Then parents and wife cry up your tears, and endeavor to live near the Cross of Christ, that when you go hence your death, like his, may be that of the righteous. J. D.

A late letter from Brownsville, published in the San Antonio, Texas, Herald, says: "A Yankee ship was wrecked on our side of the Rio Grande, a few days since. We got 1500 barrels of flour, 15,000 sacks of corn a lot of shoes, hats, etc. We took twelve Yankee prisoners, who were taken to Brownsville. That will help the troops here, especially the 3d regiment."

able, sacred, dear, is involved. We are fighting for everything that makes life desirable, valuable and noble. If we lose we have nothing left to live for. We are fighting for our honor—for the honor of one of the most honorable and chivalrous races upon earth. The aim of the political warfare waged against us was to destroy our civil honor, and to disgrace our detested dignity. It was to withdraw from dishonoring associations, and to preserve our dignity unimpaired, that we sought to live for ourselves. And now degradation is sought to be forced upon us by the sword. And if, by possibility, the South should ultimately be forced to humble her honor before the hated power opposed to her she will be ruined forever. The proud and chivalrous Southern people, should the narrow and backbone of their character—their honor—be destroyed, could be the most worthless race upon earth. The highest when they fall become the lowest.

Paradoxical as it may seem, we are fighting for peace. Although earnestly desiring the legitimate fruit of our revolutionary war for the last twenty-five years. The race that has troubled and persecuted friend and stranger for centuries, from mere desire of domination and discord, must needs trouble what they claimed as their own country and those whom they regarded as their own countrymen. And when peace in such association became hopeless, and we sought to go quietly to ourselves, the intolerant fraternity was sought to be forced upon us at the point of the bayonet. War is being waged upon us to force us to come back and live with them and quarrel with them forever. Could a people, and the war they wage assume more hateful aspects?

There is great wickedness in all wars and the responsibility for a war is an awful one; but we are not responsible for the present war. It was forced upon us. "We declare before Heaven and in the face of mankind, that we desire only to be left alone," in the language of our noble President, is the sentiment of our people, and their motto in this war, and has already become historical. We sought to inflame upon no rights, to destroy no interests, to take no lives. The guilt of the immense bloodshed, and war, and waste of this war, rests upon other heads than ours.

The character of the war is with us, essentially and necessarily religious. Our loyalty, like that of those ancient Hebrew patriots, is to God. Both pious and patriotic. "The clinging to the glorious memory of Abraham," both as their capital city and the seat of the Temple. Everything dear and sacred is religious, and so are the obligations and duties connected therewith. Domestic, social and political blessings, all depend upon the sanctities of religion. In its simplest form, the war with us is for freedom of conscience—freedom to interpret the Bible and worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences. On the part of our enemies, failing to convince us by their eloquence and sophistical logic, they seek to force their opinions upon us.

The war, with us, should become religious in view of the past wrongs done us, the blood already shed, the suffering already endured, the hatred and unjust oppression sought to be imposed upon us, the unprovoked character of the contest and the overwhelming odds against us.

Moreover, consider the religious character of the sympathies of our friends and every Confederate soldier and officer. Every day, and nightly, our wives, mothers, sisters, fathers, children and friends, lift their praying hands to the throne of Heavenly grace in our behalf. To day all over our land, where the sanctuary has not been desecrated, nor the fires kindled upon the altar, and where the thronging feet of the peaceful assembly will come, and the accustomed voice is still heard in the pulpit, how many prayers go up to God for us?

Can the South be our home, if I should with all these sacred treasures of the heart, become the prey of the spoiler? Never will I live in that glorious land after it shall have been desecrated and degraded.

Here officer on the wall, interrupted and said:

"Mr. President, if you will preach a religious sermon, you can go out but if you want to make a war speech, you had better stop."

Col. Gillespie replied:

"We have obtained permission to hold this service in our own way."

Officer—"If you will stick to the book, we will hear you; but we don't want a war speech."

Col. G.—"I do not intend it for you."

Officer—"You must preach a religious sermon."

Col. G.—"We will cease if you command it, but I will not suffer you to dictate what I shall say."

Gen. Churchill, rising:—"That's right, Colonel; let us not go on unless we are free." And the assembly dispersed clapping hands and cheering, and one man cried out: "Hurray for Gen. Davis!" The officer of the guard called out: "Halt that man!" but he could not be distinguished in the crowd.

The above, of course, is a mere outline of the remarks on the occasion, taken hastily from the notes after service. The meeting was held in the open muddy street, with guards on the wall all round.

OUR NEW TERMS.

The attention of those interested is invited to our new terms, published to day's paper.

We have procured a supply of paper sufficient for this year; and though at a cost near double that of our previous bill, we shall not increase the price of our paper. But, as it is as much as we can do to supply papers to those who pay us, we shall send to no more new subscribers, unless they pay in advance. We shall continue to stop the papers of those who owe for one or more years. If they find their papers stopped they will know the cause, and if they wish them continued, they can have it done by paying up.

We would be glad to receive advance subscriptions, from as many of our patrons as can make it convenient. It might prove an advantage to themselves as well as us, by securing a paper at lower rates than they could do hereafter.

NEW YANKEE PROGRAMME.

The Yankee papers have announced that their armies will hereafter act upon the defensive, despairing of subduing us by a reference to their previous programme; and we have been informed by a gentleman who conversed with some of the prisoners at Rome, that it was boldly and confidently declared by them that, ere July had closed, the whole South would be laid waste by just such raids as the one in which they had been engaged. Their movements, as well as their declarations, establish the fact that, despairing of subjugating the South, or of successfully extending against our free and fair means, all the recognized rules of civilized warfare are to be ignored, and the country overrun by marauding bands, to lay waste the land, destroying our growing crops, burning our farms and factories, and whatever else contributes to our success and existence as a people. Thus they hope to reduce and starve us into submission to the Lincoln despotism. Carried on as these raids have been inaugurated, there is no calculating the injury they may inflict upon us, despite the best and most speedy organizations we can effect for resistance. It is virtually an abandonment of all honorable warfare, and a raising of the black flag for their future operations. Hence it becomes our duty to inquire, not only how we may best resist this threatened Yankee invasion, and protect our homes and families, but in what character we shall receive the depredations. Shall we still adhere to our course of treating them as honorable antagonists, or shall we, in sheer justice to ourselves, deal with them as the outlaws and robbers they are? Have they not by their actions, aggravated by their taunting avowals, placed themselves beyond the pale of humanity? And is there one incentive, founded in justice, or even compassion, for our noting out to them other than the fate of all midnight assassins, the destroyers of peaceful homes, and the ruthless destroyers of maternity virtue and maiden purity? These are questions which, to doubt, are beginning to suggest themselves to every Southerner, and, we opine, there is no hesitation or difference as to the answer.

If the Yankees persist in this system of plunder and robbery, we shall be forced to make it a war of extermination on our part, and of destruction and devastation on theirs.

PRISONERS AND SPOILS.

We have been informed by Mr. L. C. Mitchell, who went with others from this place to Rome, soon after the news of the Yankee advance reached here, that Gen. Forrest reached there with 1,500 prisoners, 2,000 stand of arms, 2 mountain howitzers, 400 horses, and about 20 negroes, among the number six Ohio free negroes, one of whom was claimed by a Yankee Major as his private property, under the terms of capitulation; but this claim was not allowed by Gen. Forrest, and the whole six were sold and the proceeds divided among his men. This information is correct, Mr. M. having been present, and careful to be accurate. The Alabamians were two companies from Winston county, piloted by a man raised in Floyd Co., four miles from Rome. The private, including the two companies, were paroled, and the 95 commissioned officers sent to Atlanta to be retained under the President's order. The pilot was committed to jail, on the ground that he had formerly been in the Confederate service in the 5th Ga. Reg't. General

Forrest had three small blank books in his breast pocket, which were struck by a musket ball, passing through two, and entering the third immediately over his heart. His brother was seriously wounded and left on Sand Mountain.

FALSE RUMORS.

Rumors reached this place on Tuesday evening, that a large Yankee force were near Elyton, striking for the A. R. & T. R. R. and towards Selma. Many citizens immediately left for the scene of expected conflict; but, although a courier brought the news, with some show of truth, it turned out that there was scarcely a pretext for this alarm—not a Yankee being near the rumored point. On Wednesday the excitement was increased by intelligence brought direct from Gadsden that fifteen Yankee regiments were advancing in that direction. This also proved unfounded—the fact more probably being that every Yankee within unsafe distance of Forrest's command was making the speediest kind of tracks towards Rosecrans's army.

A TRUE HEROINE.

An incident connected with the recent Yankee raid is worthy of record. When Gen. Forrest arrived at Black Creek, 8 miles from Gadsden, in hot pursuit of the Vandals, he found his progress checked by a swollen stream and a demolished bridge, while a detachment of the enemy lingered behind to dispute his passage to the opposite side. Ignorant of the ford, if indeed there were any, Gen. Forrest himself rode back in quest of the necessary information. At the first house he made the inquiry whether there was any person who could pilot his command across the stream, to which a young lady made reply—a male person being present—that she knew the ford, and that if she had a horse she would accompany and direct him. There being no time for ceremony, Gen. Forrest proposed that she should get up behind him, to which, with no maiden coyness, but actuated only by the heroic impulse to serve her country, she at once consented. Her mother, however, overhearing the suggestion, and sensitively alive to her daughter's safety and honor, interposed the objection. "Sir, my child cannot accompany a stranger." "Madam," respectfully urged the far-famed chieftain, "my name is Forrest, and I will be responsible for this young lady's safety." "Oh," rejoined the good woman, "if you are Gen. Forrest she can go with you."

Mounted behind the General, she piloted him across the stream, exposed to the whistling bullets of the enemy; nor did she retire from her post of danger until the last man had safely crossed, and the column seen in continuance of its rapid pursuit, accompanied by her earnest prayers for success.

The name of this heroine is Miss Jane Sanson, who deserves to be long and gratefully remembered, not only by Gen. Forrest and his gallant men, but by every lover of the cause to which she rendered such efficient and timely aid. The General wrote a note of thanks, and sent it back to the heroic girl.

GEN. FORREST IN ROMÉ.

The Rome Courier gives an interesting account of the raid, and of the reception given to Gen. Forrest and his command, which we can only give in a condensed form. Information reached there about 2 o'clock on Sunday morning of the threatened advance, borne by Mr. Wisdom, from Gadsden, after a hard ride of eleven hours. Preparations were immediately commenced for their reception—two pieces of artillery commanding the road and the bridge, and cotton barricades being erected at all the defiles near the city, whilst videttes were sent out to watch the enemy's approach. During the morning dispatches were received from Gen. Forrest urging our commander to hold them array for a few hours at all hazards, and information, about 2 o'clock, that he was fighting them at Gaylesville with an inferior force.

About 9 o'clock some 200 of their advance reached the environs of the city, where they were bold enough to dismount and feed, at the same time picking up all the horses and mules in the neighborhood, and taking some citizens prisoners. About 3 o'clock they retreated down the Alabama road, pursued by a small but resolute band of mounted citizens.

In the meantime Gen. Forrest had overtaken the main body, and with but 700 men compelled their surrender, as we have elsewhere stated. Our loss does not exceed 20 men, while fully 300 of the enemy were killed and wounded—among them Col. Hathaway of Indiana, Col. Straight of Indiana commanded the Yankee forces.

The generous and noble-hearted people of Rome, received Gen. Forrest and his gallant command, as their deliverers in the hour of extreme peril. A salute of 20 guns was fired—a thousand Ladies strewed their paths with flowers, and welcomed them with smiles and tears of gratitude and joy—the houses were thrown open, and they were feasted to their heart's content.

200 RECREANT ALABAMIANS!

1520 Federalists Captured!

Great Excitement and Rejoicing!

Yankee Raids have recently become the order of the day, in imitation of the grand dashes of Stewart, Forrest, Morgan and Wheeler; but, unlike the enterprises of Confederate heroes, theirs have but proved a counterpart of other Federal blunders.

Emboldened by the success of their recent marauding expedition into Mississippi, another plundering, pillaging, burning, destructive foray was set on foot having Rome, Ga., for its point of attainment, and all intermediate points as legitimate theatres of burning and plunder.

On Saturday night last, about 3 o'clock our town was thrown into considerable excitement, by the arrival of Capt. Isaac P. Morgan, with the intelligence that a body of Yankee Cavalry, from North Alabama numbering from 200 to 1,700, had arrived at Gadsden, 21 miles west of this place. After remaining some three hours, destroying the ferry-boats and robbing private citizens, they left in the direction of Rome, keeping on the west side of the Coosa river. In a short time, Mr. Woolam, stage driver on the Rome Road, and Capt. R. G. Earle left for Rome, and a small body of our citizens armed themselves, taking the same direction, hoping to intercept and assist in the capture of the insouciant robbers and invaders.

On Sunday evening a letter was received from Mr. Stiff, P. M. at Centre, that they were within 5 miles of that point, had burned the Round Mountain Iron Works the night before, and that Gen. Forrest was hard after them about two hours behind. The mail carrier from Asheville brought a confirmation of Forrest's pursuit. On Sunday night about midnight, Capt. Bowie, of Tallapoosa, passed through our place, with some sixty citizens, armed and mounted, intending to join in the pursuit.

Intelligence was brought on the same evening, that at Turkeytown, a body of armed citizens had intercepted them, when a brisk little fight occurred, in which one Yankee Colonel and five of his miscreants were killed—our gallant men suffering the loss of one killed and several wounded.

Various rumors, more or less exciting, reached us, up to Monday evening, when Capt. Bowie returned with his company, bringing the glorious intelligence that Gen. Forrest, with 700 cavalry, had overtaken them at Cedar Bluff, where they had prepared to burn the town. They retreated some 4 miles and formed a line of battle. Gen. Forrest demanded their unconditional surrender, to which, after a short consultation, they agreed, surrendering 1,520 strong, with the same number of arms, two fine pieces of artillery, horses &c., and their stolen plunder.

All of Sunday, and even up to Monday, the excitement continued—armed citizens continually passing toward the threatened point. One hundred, probably, left from this neighborhood, while between here and Rome, the country literally swarmed with volunteer defenders of our soil from ruthless Yankee invasion—such a rolling, swelling surge of Southerners—old men and boys—as no Yankee raid could withstand!

Thus have the Yankees been taught that raids into this portion of Alabama and Georgia are neither profitable or wholesome; whilst our own loyal citizens are encouraged by the certainty that, despite the treason and treachery of the few, there is, in their united and willing arms, ample strength to teach the projectors of all similar raids, that the country is not yet defenceless or the material for Southern soldiers yet exhausted.

Two suggestions, in this connection, may be indulged—both within Government province and the individual mercy and justice of the citizens whose homes have been invaded, and whose rights have been outraged: First, let every mother's son of the 200 tory Alabamians reported captured with the Yankee invaders be hung higher than Haman, without the benefit of clergy, as a partial punishment for the enormity of their crime, and a wholesome lesson to all future traitors. Secondly, and most important of all, let the Government distribute among the citizens of unprotected districts, likely to be invaded, a portion of its surplus arms, and an adequate supply of ammunition, and, our word for it, they will be able to protect themselves from all future depredations.

Richmond, May 9.

The following was received from Guinea, near Fredericksburg, this evening, dated May 8:

To His Excellency, President Davis:

At the close of the battle of Chancellorville on Sunday, the enemy was reported advancing from Fredericksburg on our rear, when Gen. McLaws was sent back to arrest his progress, and repulsed him handsomely that afternoon. Learning that their forces consisted of two corps under Gen. Sedgwick; 4 determined to attack them, and marched back yesterday with Gen. Anderson's Division, uniting with McLaws. In the afternoon we succeeded, by the blessing of Heaven, in driving Gen. Sedgwick over the river.

We have re-occupied Fredericksburg and no enemy remains south of the Rappahannock in this vicinity. [Signed] R. E. Lee, General.

Richmond, May 9. The Dispatch was issued extra this evening, giving the first details of the battle near Chancellorville yet received. The correspondent says the "fight" in many respects was one of the bloodiest of the war. Our soldiers both in officers and men, the enemy, had thrown up a magnificent and constructed abatis, which after hard fighting, were captured by our troops. Ergo Gen. Lee's of Chancellorsville, is among the prisoners who represent some forty-eight regiments, mostly foreign.

News from Vicksburg.—From Vicksburg we learn that the Yankee ram sunk by our batteries on last Wednesday was a week with the Lancaster—a first class gunboat. The craft floated past the batteries in a crippled condition, and was towed ashore, below by the Albatross, one of the vessels that passed Fort Hudson, turns out to be the ram Monitor. She is reported to be a total wreck. So that makes six gunboats and a frigate lost by the Yankees within the past three months on the Mississippi River. The hull of the Lancaster was not saved as was reported, by the Albatross.

The Impressment Bill, passed by Congress will, eventually, have an important bearing on prices. It exempts the property of the producer from arbitrary impressments, and secures him "just compensation." Property belonging to speculators and middle men, when impressed, will be paid for according to a tariff of prices, to be fixed by a Board of Appraisers in each State.

THE LIAR'S REWARD.

It is said that one of the greatest disadvantages of falsehood, so far as the present world is concerned, is that the liar will not be believed when he tells the truth, however vital or important that truth may be to him. This was most clearly exemplified in the late battles in Virginia. Letter writers and individuals who have returned since the battles in Virginia all agree in stating that Gen. Hooker had at least two or three to one of Gen. Lee's force. Hooker, it seems, was aware of this, and in a speech to his men before the battle, told them so, and also that he had greatly the advantage of position; and that all he asked of them was to stand firm and fight manfully, in which case nothing could impede their march to Richmond. But the Yankee army had been so deceived before their lying Generals, McClellan, Pope, Milroy, Banks and others, that they would not believe a word of it: on the contrary, they persisted in believing that Lee's army outnumbered their own at least two to one; they therefore went into the fight expecting to be whipped, and were not disappointed. But perhaps if they had believed or known the truth, the frequent defeats they had experienced before, would have produced the same expectation and been followed by the same result.

CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA AND QUINZY.
—We have been informed by Mr. J. Z. Brady, living near this place, that common soft soap is an effectual remedy for hog cholera and quinzy. Himself and others have tried it in a number of cases without a single failure. The hogs will eat the soap, if given them, in a trough or other vessel; but if not, it can be mixed with corn.

ATTENTION LAND BUYERS.
Rev. R. Seales offers for sale a good tract of land, lying seven miles east of this place. For particulars see advertisement in another column.

YANKEE IMPUDENCE.
The Rome Courier in describing the conduct of the Yankees after their capture by Forrest and arrival at that place says:

"The prisoners generally, were remarkably impudent and insulting; especially the officers. One of them, a Major, was publicly cursing Gen. Forrest on the streets for a scoundrel and a rascal—stating that when Forrest demanded a surrender, the Yankee negotiators were trying to get the best terms possible when Forrest appeared suddenly to get very mad; swore he would wait no longer; that he would rather kill the whole of them than not; ordered his couriers immediately to direct the commanders of four separate batteries, to place them on separate points of hills. And ordered the commanders of four separate regiments to form immediately at particular points in line of battle. And that the couriers actually dashed off, as though they were going to have these orders executed. And as they dashed off Forrest told them his six-inch gun would be fired in ten minutes, when in fact, he said, the rascal had but two little cannon, and not more than half a regiment of men all told. That Forrest was nothing but a damned swindler."

Mr. Editor:—Many of us desire the announcement of the name of Col. G. C. Ellis as a candidate to represent this county in the Senatorial Branch of the next Legislature.

May 24, '63. WESTERN CALHOUN.

For the "Republican"

Mr. Editor:—Disclaiming the most remote idea, or intention of making an "invidious distinction," or in any wise to disparage the claims of any one, we would simply, but candidly, ask the qualified voters of Alabama why the President of the A. & T. R. R. would not, at this critical period in the history of our country, make a true, good, safe, wise and efficient Governor. He is worthy and well qualified, and in every relation of life has proved himself to be a working man—true and faithful to every trust. He is the man, above all others, whom the voters of North and East Alabama would delight to honor and see placed in the Executive chair. This end of the State has not had the honor of having one of her sons so highly honored since the days of Nat. Terry. Surely the Middle and Southern portions of the State if they are "powerful" will be "merciful," and let us honor a man who would reflect honor and credit upon them.

Citizens of Alabama! assert your right to do as you will one time. Discard the old wire-working, Governor-making tricksters of former days, and vote like free men, and sensible men, for T. A. WALKER, of Calhoun county, and you will have a Governor who will diligently watch and guard the interest of your State in every particular. He is a farmer, as well as a Statesman, a practical man, as well as a scientific one; and, above all, he is what the Bible denominates as the noblest work of God—an honest man. JUSTICE.

HEADQUARTERS 5TH ALA. REGT.,
Santee, Caroline county, Va.,
May 8, 1863.

General Orders, No. —
It is with deep regret that the Colonel commanding announces to this Regiment the death of Capt. W. T. Renfro, of Co. B. This truly brave and chivalrous officer expired on yesterday, 5th inst., from wounds received on Sunday the 3d inst., in the battle of Chancellorsville. While called upon to mourn the loss of one of our best and most gallant officers, we can but express the hope, that in cherishing his memory as a dauntless Southern soldier who has fallen in defense of his country's sacred rights, his fellow-soldiers of the 5th Ala. will emulate his courage and resolve to avenge his death.

By order of Colonel commanding,
S. P. DOSS, A. A.

Latest News.

MOBILE, May 23.
The special reporter of the Advertiser dispatches from Jackson, the 23d: Heavy firing was heard in the direction of Vicksburg this morning.

It is reported and believed in official circles that the enemy assaulted our works at Vicksburg on Wednesday, and was badly repulsed.

Snyder's bluff had been evacuated. A courier reports that Yazoo City was captured by the Federals, and the Navy Yard burned by us.

An officer from Vicksburg reports that Grant has been whipped back.

LATER.

The enemy have made three desperate assaults on Vicksburg and been repulsed each time.

Semi-official information reports the capture of Helena, Ark., by Gen. Price. The Register's correspondent writing from Jackson the 19th says: Gen. Johnston this morning threw 10,000 men over the Big Black to the Vicksburg side.

It is reported in Mobile that Snyder's Bluff had been recaptured by our troops and the occupation of Yazoo City by the Federals is disbelieved.

MOBILE, May 25.

The correspondent of the Evening News, at Jackson, 23d inst., says troops are constantly arriving, and we will now have a good force. The city is being fortified.

The Mississippi of Saturday says the enemy attacked Vicksburg six times—three times yesterday—and were defeated each time with immense loss.

Gen. Stevenson says we can hold Vicksburg indefinitely.

The special reporter of Evening News, at Jackson, 24th, says firing was heard here until 9 o'clock this morning. Nothing has been heard since then.

On the morning of the 20th some Mississippi mounted cavalry dashed into Raymond, capturing four hundred prisoners. One hundred and forty-eight were brought here. The rest, sick and wounded, were paroled.

JACKSON, May 25.

An officer from Vicksburg says that at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the enemy attacked our left and centre four times. The first attack lasted thirty minutes, the second twenty, the third fifteen, and the fourth nine minutes. There was great slaughter each time. Our loss was eighty men. The officers leading the troops broke the columns and disappeared on Thursday. The enemy are now shelling. The Federal dead are unburied.

RICHMOND, May 25.

Northern Jates the 23d inst. have been received:

Cincinnati dispatches say the President has changed the sentence of Vallandigham to transportation through the Federal lines. He will be delivered to Rosecrans, who under a flag of truce will deliver him into the lines of Gen. Bragg.

TULLAHOMA, May 25.

The Nashville Union says: Arrangements have been perfected to add one hundred thousand Federal cavalry within six months.

The Rebel forces at Black Water are reported 20,000.
There is nothing new from Mississippi since the 15th inst.

Special to the Constitutionalist.
McMINNIEVILLE, May 24.

Captain Reese of Wheeler's escort, made another successful raid across the Cumberland river, on the 22d inst., capturing some fifty prisoners and a large Federal mail of great value, and ran the enemy through Hartsville.

TO BE HUNG.

The negro convicted of the murder of Mr. Thomas, at the present term of the court has been sentenced to be hung, and will be executed at this place on Friday next.

Tullahoma Reporter, May 23.

THE ANGLICAN REBEL WAR VESSEL.
VIRGINIA.—To whatever extent the general plan of building ships for the rebels in English docks may be checked we have information that one of them is now about in parts unknown, to add power to the navy which the rebels boasted they would create out of nothing. The Virginia was launched from the Clyde, fully equipped except armament and supplies. These she took aboard from the French coast, and at once sailed for her rendezvous. She is very strongly armed with iron, and very powerfully armed. Ten heavy guns bristle from her side ports, and two Whitworth sixty eight pounders are placed on pivots on her decks. Where is she going? Nobody here knows. What is to prevent her from paying her respects to our city among others? Fort Delaware would not stop her for one moment. Fort Mifflin has only some old honey combed guns on worm-eaten carriages, whose projectiles, could they be fired, would glance like hail from her sides. Have the authorities bathed them to have obstructions of any sort ready for her possible raid?—Philadelphia Paper.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.—The National Intelligencer, at the request of a correspondent, publishes the following simple cure for cholera-infantum, cholera, diarrhea, colic, and all other diseases of the alimentary organs generated in the summer season, by the use of fruit or otherwise. He says: "I am as much opposed as any allopathic or homopathic physician can be to any species of quackery or empiricism. This is the result of many years of positive personal experience in my own family—with myself, with my children, with my neighbors, and with my friends and acquaintances. It ought to be everywhere known. How many children's lives it will save, if adopted! It is simply this—one fourth of an ounce of pulverized cinnamon—one fourth of an ounce of pulverized cloves—one fourth of an ounce of gun guaiacum; mixed with one pint of old and pure whiskey. To be well shaken before taken." Dose for an adult, one half a wine-glass, or a large table spoonful, filled up with water; for a child, proportionally.

It never fails. One single dose at the inception of any such disease, if not complicated with other maladies, will always, within an hour cure. If such disease be chronic, or has run on for some time, then hourly or daily three or four times.

DIED.—At his residence in Jacksonville, on the 19th inst., Doctor GEORGE HOKE, in the 58th year of his age.

Death is reaping an abundant harvest not only on the battlefield, but by the domestic hearth. Day by day do one and another fall around us, and go to swell the lengthening train of the departed.

In this instance it is fitting that one who knew the lamented deceased long and well, should pay a passing tribute of affection to his memory. Doctor Hoke was no ordinary man. Possessing a clear, well balanced and inquisitive mind, he was a student to the day of his death; yet such was the modesty and retiring nature of his disposition, that few, except his most intimate friends, appreciated the depth and extent of his acquirements in almost every department of knowledge. Yet all could appreciate the excellence of his moral character. All knew that as a neighbor he was upright and benevolent, faithful in discharging all the varied duties of life, and that his death has created a void not easily filled.

In every emergency his only enquiry was "what is right." Having found the right way he pursued it unflinchingly to the end. As a husband and father he was ever affectionate, cheerful, indulgent, and studious at all times to promote the well being and happiness of those whom God had committed to his charge. As a Christian it is no exaggeration to say that he followed as perfectly the example of our blessed Saviour as it is possible for imperfect human nature to do.

His end was a fitting close to such a life. When the summons came for him to join "the glorious company of the Apostles," his grateful and ever ready answer was "Lord, I come." Sustained and soothed by an unflinching trust, he awaited the last dread hour as the end of the toil, the completion of the appointed task, the winning of the race, the passage into eternal life. Death was there, but so was the victory in which it was swallowed up. There is rest on that pale countenance, and a smile is there, which the victorious spirit left upon the lips as it ascended to the bosom of its father and its God.

CAMP GRAGO, near FREDERICKSBURG,
May 11th, 1862.

To the memory of John H. Spruce, Co. D, 13th Ala. Vols., who fell on Sunday, the 3d inst., while gallantly charging our common enemy's entrenchments after having gone with his company and regiment and captured a battery of three guns.

This estimable young man was among the first to respond to the call of his country twenty months ago. He was a member of the Randolph Mountaineers from Randolph county, Ala., which was the first company organized in our country. This company was attached to the 13th Regiment Ala. Vols. commanded by Col. B. D. Fry, on 19th July 1861, and immediately ordered to the State of Va., where it has since been fighting the enemy. Johnnie, by his gentlemanly bearing, strict integrity, genial spirit, and ready obedience had won for himself the unbounded confidence of his officers, and the admiration of all his companions in arms.

All his officers bear testimony to his gallantry and bravery. To know him was to love him. He believed as only a young man can believe, received into his heart without a doubt, that Christ died to save his soul, and in him, like faith, passed from earth to heaven.

We all loved him as a brother, we feel the blessings of his parents near. Kind friends have soothed his pillow.

Have watched his every care,
Beneath the weeping willow.

We gently laid him down.

Faint, murmuring parents' methinks in gentle whispers the departed one thus speaks to you:

Oh weep no more, dear father

That I am called away;

My Savior bade me hither,

Whom you taught me to obey.

For I would not have my spirit back

To its frail form again.

To languish weary days and nights,

On my little couch of pain.

His company mourns its irreparable loss of a brave member, and tender to the bereaved parents and friends of the deceased, our heartfelt sympathy.

DIED.—At his residence in Calhoun county, Ala., on the 7th day of May, Wm. Morris, a native of N. C., in the 56th year of his age, leaving a wife and seven children to mourn his loss. He was a kind husband, a tender father, and a good neighbor. May God comfort the widow and orphans.

T. J. G.

DIED.—At the residence of T. P. Gwin, April 12th, 1863, Willis T., son of Wm. L. and Fanny L. Stokes, aged 8 months and five days. He is taken from earth to that blessed abode where he is free from all the troubles of this world.

"They die in Jesus, and are blessed,
How kind their slumbers are,
From suffering and from sin released,
And freed from every care."
